

I want to add my comment in support of RM-10787 for the removal of all cw (code) testing requirements for Amateur Radio license classes. I hold a Technician class license, KB9RYI. I believe that cw is just another mode like am, fm, ssb, atv, and digital modes. The ability to pass a code test is no indication of how good or bad a radio operator will be.

Thank you for considering my comment in support of removing code testing for all classes of Amateur Radio license.
